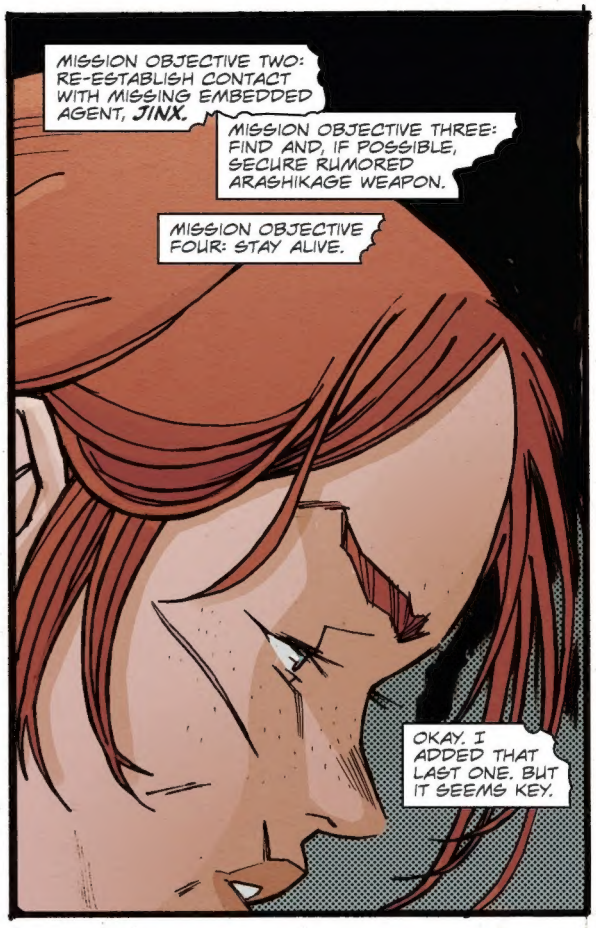
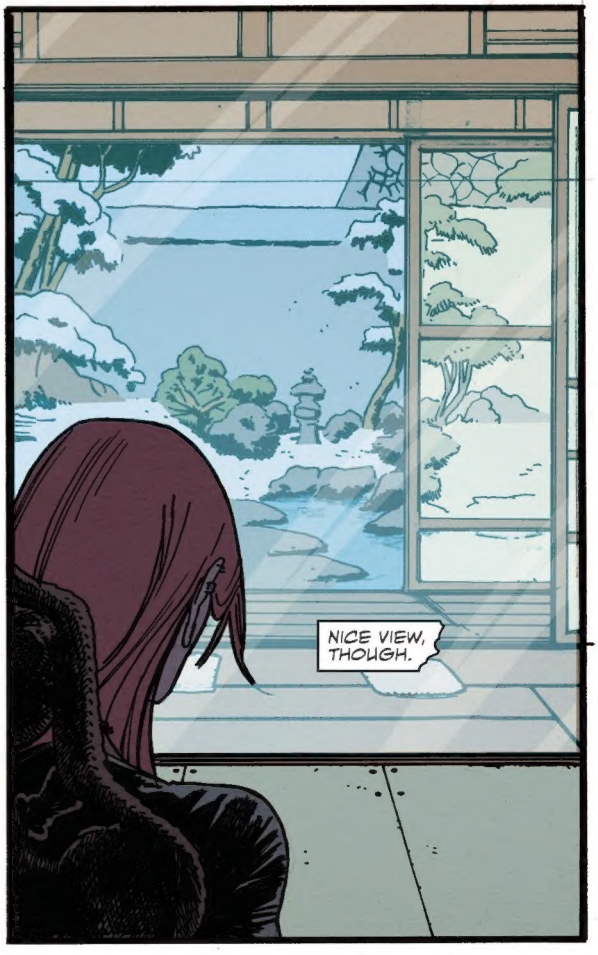
MISSION OBJECTIVE ONE: GAIN ACCESS TO THE ARASHIKAGE STRONGHOLD IN JAPAN.

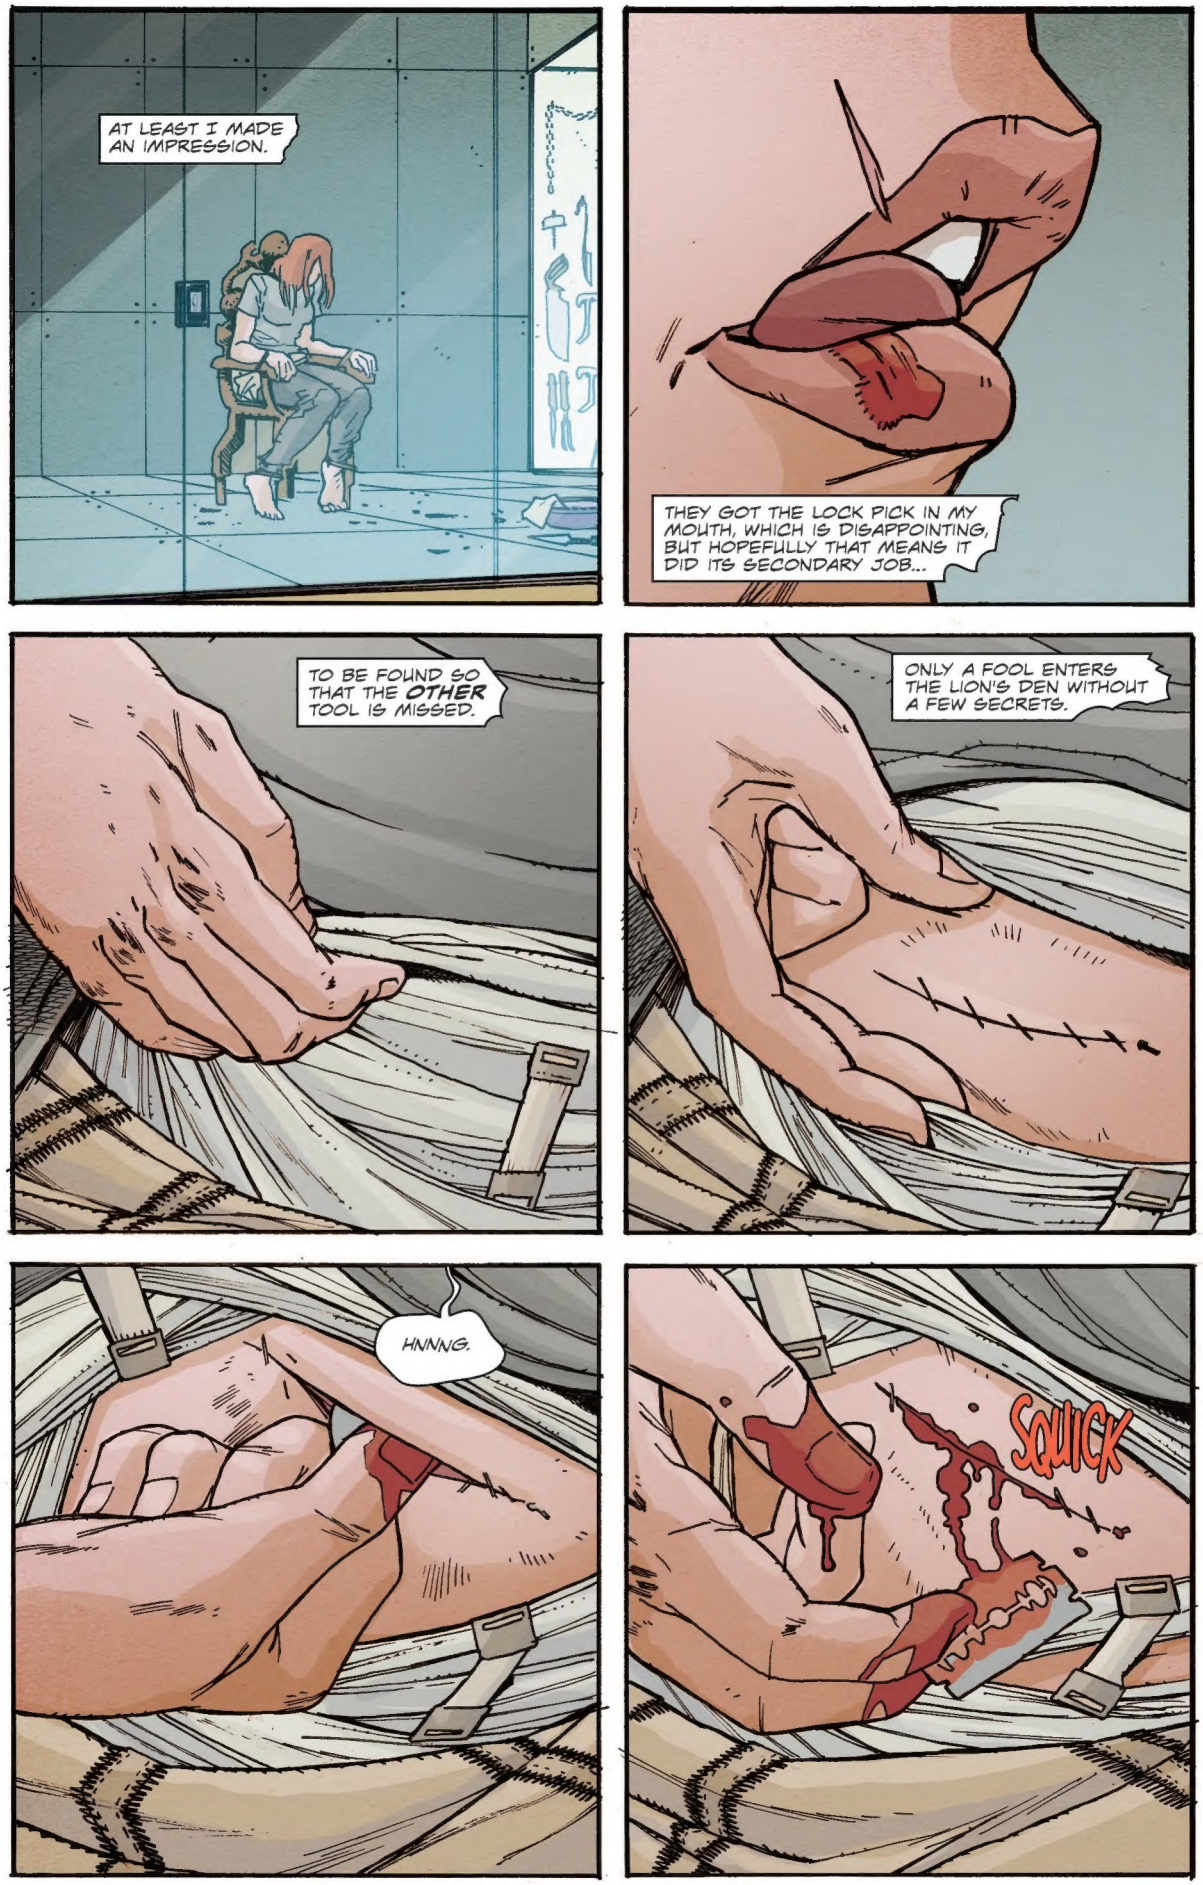


MISSION OBJECTIVE TWO: RE-ESTABLISH CONTACT WITH MISSING EMBEDDED AGENT, JINX.
MISSION OBJECTIVE THREE: FIND AND, IF POSSIBLE, SECURE RUMORED ARASHIKAGE WEAPON.
MISSION OBJECTIVE FOUR: STAY ALIVE.
OKAY. I ADDED THAT LAST ONE. BUT IT SEEMS KEY.

WELL, THAT'S DISAPPOINTING.
WAS HOPING FOR THE MED-BAY, BUT IT LOOKS LIKE THEY'RE GOING WITH TORTURE.



NICE VIEW, THOUGH.



AT LEAST I MADE AN IMPRESSION.
THEY GOT THE LOCK PICK IN MY MOUTH, WHICH IS DISAPPOINTING, BUT HOPEFULLY THAT MEANS IT DID ITS SECONDARY JOB...

Welcome to the SCARLETT letter column, friends! Editor Ben Abernathy reporting for duty and until we start getting letters for this killer new book, I thought I'd answer a few letters from our earlier blockbuster G.I. Joe minis…

Dear G.I. Joe Team,

I wanted to thank you all for producing such an exciting line of books. I'm finishing up the last couple of issues of "Cobra Commander", and I can't wait for "Destro" and "Scarlett". Ever since my local comic shop sold me on what this whole "Energon Universe" is, all the books in said series have been my most anticipated titles each month. Robert's work on "Void Rivals" is some of the most fun with a sci-fi book I've had since "Saga", and Joshua Williamson has become the writer to watch for. His work on the Superman books is also great.

I adore how these books ride that line between the fun, playfulness of watching a Saturday morning cartoon or playing with toys, and the more grounded, grittiness that ages it up for us who grew up during the start of the Joes. I can't wait to see where these new books take us, and I can't wait for the next Joe and Autobot adventure.

Sincerely,
Ramon

Thank you for reading, Ramon! I think what the collective teams and Skybound have done with the Energon Universe is nothing short of remarkable…and please let us know what you think of SCARLETT and DESTRO!

Dear Energon Universe Team

I am writing to you from the north, from Quebec City, Canada. I have been a fan of G.I. Joe and Transformers since the very beginning, in the early 1980s. My brother and I were crazy about the toys, TV shows and comic books published by Marvel. Over the years, we continued to follow the various series but, let's admit it, the quality was not often there. I liked the series created by John Ney Rieber and Jae Lee in 2003 at Dreamwave, but nothing since then had caught my attention.

And then, a few months ago, I heard about this universe that was developing at Image Comics, a fusion of the worlds of G.I. Joe and Transformers. Since I knew, and appreciated, some of the creators attached to these new series, I decided to give it a try. What can I say? Well done? Congratulations? Extraordinary?

You have not only managed to completely recreate these somewhat tired universes, but you have done so with richness, imagination and audacity. Very rarely in this industry do you find a team so talented and passionate about their work and it shows on every page. Being a professional in the field of design and advertising myself, I know the importance of teamwork. I would like to congratulate every person who works on these series. You have created something of rare quality and which has pleased an old fan like me. And I will continue to follow your work for a long time to come.

Best regards,
Francis

P.S. My brother hasn't heard of the Energon Universe yet. I bought two copies of each issue of the various series to give to him for his birthday in July. I'm sure you'll have one more old fan.

THANK YOU for your terrific letter, support, enthusiasm and brotherly love. I hope you check out SCARLETT and DESTRO but also the second arcs of VOID RIVALS and TRANSFORMERS! We have some exciting things planned…

Hi. I just wanted to say that you guys are doing an awesome job with the Duke and Cobra Commander series! Ever since I picked up Duke issue 1, I have been hooked on all the comics related to the Energon Universe!

But my question is that after Duke and Cobra Commander are done, are you going to do anymore miniseries on other GI Joe characters? I would absolutely love to see Shipwreck get in on this action!!

Yo Joe!!!
Mitch Kling

The answer is yes to the additional miniseries and Shipwreck? Hmm, I do love Shipwreck (I still have my original figure!) and who knows what the future may hold!

Hey Skybound,

I've been enjoying both series of Duke and Cobra Commander since their initial releases and have kept up to date with every issue while waiting eagerly for the next one to drop.

I have certainly become a new fan of the G.I. Joe franchise thanks to the incredible writing and epic artwork of these series, I am absolutely enjoying the action packed movie-like storytelling of Duke and the darker sci fi elements of CC with its horror tones.

As someone with limited knowledge of the franchise I have been loving being introduced to so many of the characters for the first time and to see how the team at Skybound are taking what came before and reintroducing everything into this new continuity.

One of the most surprising concepts to me was Cobra-La which I had never heard of before reading CC #1 but loved it almost immediately as it was so unforeseen and interesting to me that this was the Commander's origin (came as a bigger surprise to learn that fans had originally disliked this idea many years before now).

To me Cobra-La is a perfect way for Cobra (and the Joes) to have their own potential crossover with the story of Void Rivals without necessarily the need for the Transformers themselves always being the connection between the two.

Besides that I love having two series focused on opposite sides of the same franchise, I know that Scarlett and Destro have their own miniseries coming up next but I truly hope this is the direction we're heading towards--two ongoing comics, one for the Joes and the other for Cobra.

Final words I'll add:

1) I'm thankful you started these comics set in a world just before both organizations are established so that new readers like myself can easily get introduced to this side of the Energon Universe.

You're welcome! A lot of thought, careful planning and hard work went into the execution of everything you're reading now.

2) As a British reader who didn't grow up on G.I. Joe but instead had Action Man as a kid I'm curious to know if it is possible we'll see a UK connection to the Joes with a potential crossover down the line?

As I noted in the previous letter, who knows what the future holds…also, Dan Watters, the writer of DESTRO, gives Action Man a shout in the letters page of #1! (I hope you're reading it!)

3) I know G.I Joe are usually an organization made up of Americans but with Cobra being a global terrorist group and transforming alien robots coming to Earth will this version of the Joes form under the United Nations perhaps or stick to the tradition of Team USA?

I think you'll need to continue reading to get the answer…

With all that being said I am very excited to see how both series wrap up, interested to see what happens next and what is yet to come in the near future.

Yoooo Joe!

Lewis / Lynk Cable

Thank you for the thoughtful letter and continued support!

And that's a wrap…please let us know what you think of SCARLETT as I'd love to see you in a future letter column! Until then, YO JOE!
